WEAK VOICES MADE TO FILL ANY HALL

New Amplifier Adjustable to Speaker and Audience, Regardless of Acoustics.

Somebody coughed yesterday afternoon at one end of the grand ballroom of the Hotel Astor and 300 Western Electric dealers, standing for the most part at the other end, jumped as if the floor had suddenly burned their feet and then glanced nervously up at the roof. Nobody had shot two or three hundred volts through the dealers by way of demonstrating the power of electricity. What had happened was that an innocent looking thing about the size of a half grown alarm clock had seized that cough, and then sent it whizzing up to the second balcony into three horns behind an American flag, from which it thundered as if the angel Gabriel had cleared his throat preparatory to sounding the last call for Paradise.

The cough was an unexpected part of the demonstration of the new Western Electric public address system, whereby everyone in the hall, no matter how poor the acoustics, can hear every word a speaker says. The apparatus is so devised that a speaker with a good voice and a speaker with a poor voice are both aided electrically so that just the right amount of sound reaches those in the hall. The apparatus is adapted for "stepping up" musical tones between sixty and 5,000 vibrations a second, which is more than the range of a piano.

Newman H. Holland of the Western Electric Company demonstrated the device, speaking first with it and then standing off, continuing to speak in the same tone. His voice shrunk to nothingness in the ears of those at the end of the ballroom and then returned full and strong.

The demonstration was part of a luncheon and meeting at the hotel at which Col. H. E. Shreve, who won the Legion of Honor and D. S. M. for his work in radio in the war, and Edward Craft, chief engineer of the company, spoke of the progress being made by the company in radio and loud speaking work.

ELEVEN JURORS PICKED IN CEMENT TRUST CASE

Talesmen Wary, Fearing Long Sessions at Trial.

The selection of a jury to try the case of the United States against the forty-two defendants alleged to have formed the "cement trust" was not completed when adjournment was taken yesterday in the United States District Court. After a day of examining talesmen, only eleven jurors had been chosen.

The indictment, returned last August, charges the defendants violated the Sherman anti-trust law, in conspiring to restrict competition among manufacturers and to restrain trade and boost prices. It is alleged that the defendants manufactured and sold approximately 90 per cent. of all building cement used in the United States and that the alleged monopoly existed from August, 1918, until the time of the filing of the indictment.

The prosecution is to be conducted by James A. Fowler and Roger Shale, second assistants to the Attorney-General. They appeared in court yesterday with William Hayward, United States Attorney for this district. Counsel for the defense includes Henry L. Stimson, Archibald Cox, George T. Buckingham, Joseph P. Cotton, Lewis H. Porter, Goldwalthe H. Dorr, Kenneth M. Spence and Thurlow L. Gordon. Mr. Stimson and John E. Joyce, Assistant United States Attorney, were in charge of the examining of the talesmen yesterday. Judge Knox presided.

In the questioning of talesmen it became apparent that many were anxious to escape what promises to be a long trial, and after several had been selected, some of them asked questions from the jury box, which led to their being excused. Several of those asked were excused. In their statement that they were prejudiced.

The examination and trial will be continued today.

WOMEN GET REPORT FROM LEGISLATORS

Differ About Waiting to Perform Marriages—Miller Praised for Savings.

Half a dozen Assemblymen, including the "baby" of the Legislature, appeared by invitation before the women members of the Republican county committee yesterday in the assembly room of the National Republican Club to report on measures they had introduced, measures that had passed and measures that failed to pass the last session of the State governing body. The "baby" legislator, Victor Kaufman of the Seventh Assembly district, had less to report than the others, he explained, because it was his freshman year at the political educational gathering and he is the youngest of the Albany group.

Joseph A. Steinberg criticized Mayor Hylan because of his refusal to sign the bill providing for licensing taxicab drivers by the Police Department. He declared that the system to-day by which drivers procure licenses is "simply terrible" and that drivers even may get licenses under assumed names. "The trouble with the city administration is that they talk and do nothing, but we have a Governor who talks and does something," Assemblyman Steinberg said.

The women didn't altogether approve of Assemblyman Steinberg's bill providing for a thirty-six hour wait after taking out a marriage license before the marriage can be performed. Miss Helen Varick Boswell, the chairman, was in favor of it, particularly for those who are ready to plunge but shouldn't. Miss Mary Wood, president of the New York State Women's Republican Association, favored the bill. "I am one of the 162,000 spinsters in New York city who think that this bill gives a man too great a chance to change his mind," declared Miss Wood, rising to voice her objections.

Assemblyman George N. Jesse led an attack on the League of Women Voters, which was applauded. "Those women want something special for their sex," he said, "and I am opposed to that kind of legislation. If a husband is a good citizen then the thing you are interested in is the thing he is interested in. Separate legislation will create a sex party, which would be detrimental to politics. The party that does not recognize women in politics is the party that is going to fail."

Assemblyman Jesse referred to the decrease of $15,000,000 in State expenses during Gov. Miller's incumbency and the doubling of the city budget with Mayor Hylan at City Hall.

The other speakers were Assemblymen Solomon Ullman and Bernard Aronson.

CITY RADIO COMMITTEE APPOINTED BY HYLAN

Aims to 'Protect the People From Monopoly.'

Mayor Hylan yesterday appointed a Municipal Radio Committee. It will consider the possibility of establishing a central radio station under the auspices of the city and the most effective means of regulation and control. It was stated measures would be suggested to "protect the people against any possibility of the new medium of communication falling into the hands of a monopoly which might result in hampering the development of the radio."

The committee is: Rodman Wana-maker, chairman; Borough President Maurice E. Connolly of Queens; Merritt H. Smith, chief engineer of the Department of Water Supply; Grover A. Whalen, Commissioner of Plant and Structures; Samuel H. Rhodes, Sanders A. Wertheim and Lloyd Espechied.

Buy a New Toothbrush Every Month

At the end of a month's use, your toothbrush may seem to be in very good condition—may show little sign of wear.

But It Is Time To Throw It Away.

It isn't worn out—it is what the dentist calls "softened out." At The End Of A Month It Becomes So Soft, When Wet, That It Only Rubs The Teeth, as a soft cloth would rub them.

No longer brushes and cleanses with the ends of the bristles, as a brush should do.

This softening of the brush is produced by the action of the Saliva on the Bristles. Experiments conducted over a series of years have demonstrated that many people are Conscientiously Brushing Their Teeth, with the utmost regularity, Without Getting The Desired Result.

This is because the toothbrush is Not doing its work Thoroughly. Use a new toothbrush Each Month, as a part of your preventive treatment—and Never Use Grit On It!

If you do, the toothbrush is certain to Scour Off The Enamel, cause the rapid decay and finally the Loss of the teeth.

You can Whiten your teeth Temporarily more quickly with a paste or powder Containing Grit than by any other method. But it is Suicidal to the teeth.

The Nation's Business

The human element enters so largely into business that it is no wonder the course of trade may be plotted and charted for certain conditions exactly as may any manifestation of life.

Business can be cultivated, but it may not be forced any more than a plant without effects that must sooner or later be compensated to restore its growth to normal. On the other hand, as with the human plant, there is a well recognized contributing psychology which may make for better or for worse. Thus, there is much "boosting" for business and other adventitious aids towards restoration of confidence.

Business has passed the crisis of its deflationary disease. Its complete recovery in due course may be prognosticated with certainty. It is acquiring strength, increasing with returning confidence. There is no general forward sweep as yet, and the condition is characterized as "spotty," but this will be overcome; the signs are unfailing from the standpoint of financial conditions as represented by the banks, the activity of the basic industries, the agricultural present as to prices, and the future as to production, and notably what we believe to be the low condition of commodity stocks throughout the country—liquidated inventories.

There is plenty of money to carry on the expanding business of the country. The rate of interest is lower than it has been for a long time and may perhaps go still lower. This is not entirely due to restricted trade, but in very large part due to the fall in prices and the lessened costs of doing business.

A boom in business we do not expect and we do not want. Such an occurrence would unquestionably mean an inordinate rise in prices and profoundly affect adversely the readjustment that is now so favorably progressing.

Mr. Manufacturer:

Can You Use This Man's Merchandising Experience?

Here are the high spots in the experience of a man whose advice and assistance are now available to the manufacturer of products selling through drug stores.

Before he was 21 he had graduated from a drug store clerkship into a store of his own.

As sales and advertising manager of a leading drug house, he travelled the country selling goods and making an exhaustive study of drug store and newspaper conditions.

Later, he inaugurated and conducted for a prominent newspaper the first Merchandising Service for advertisers ever maintained, establishing a policy which has since been followed by newspapers everywhere.

For several years he was merchandise and advertising manager of one of the largest manufacturers of proprietary and toilet articles in America, where he made a record for increased business and lowered selling expense, which is probably unique. During this period he successfully merchandised a number of national products, and managed a prominent 5th Avenue retail shop.

His services, either in a personal advisory capacity or supplemented by a complete merchandising and advertising organization, are at the disposal of a few manufacturers who desire to broaden their sales and increase their profits without costly experiments and disastrous guesswork.
